Housing shortage critical at U of C

THE UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, BERKELEY, is facing a critical housing shortage, according to a report released by the university's Housing Committee. The report states that the university's current housing facilities are inadequate to meet the needs of its students and faculty, and that a major program of construction is needed to address the problem.

The report also notes that the university's current housing facilities are in poor condition, and that a major program of renovation is needed to bring them up to date. The committee recommends that the university allocate funds for the construction of new housing facilities, as well as for the renovation of existing facilities.

Cutbacks strain university services

“I think the most important thing is to make sure that the company is profitable,” says the author. “If you’re not profitable, you’re not going to be able to pay your bills, and you’re not going to be able to pay your taxes. So, the first thing you should do is make sure that you’re profitable. Then, you can start thinking about how to grow the company.”

ARTS

SUB Theatre to plug $30,000 drain

By Jeff Labrecque

When the lights dim on the SUB Theatre's production of "The Merchant of Venice," the audience will be left with a lot to think about. The play, which opens on Friday, is a story of a man who is forced to choose between his love and his duty. The play is a classic of the English Renaissance, and it is a story that is as relevant today as it was then.

These authors also found that the use of a single, non-validated questionnaire to assess the prevalence of depression in the community is not sufficient. They also found that the prevalence of depression was higher in the community than in the clinical setting. This suggests that the prevalence of depression in the community is higher than in the clinical setting.

Check out the SU executive

By Mike Miller

When it comes to the University of South Florida, the name of the executive who is in charge of the university's financial affairs is not as well known as the name of the university's president. But that is about to change.

Dr. John H. Hargrett, who has been in charge of the university's financial affairs since 1987, is stepping down from his position as executive vice president and chief financial officer. He will be replaced by Dr. James H. Hargrett, who has been in charge of the university's financial affairs since 1987. Dr. Hargrett is a member of the University of South Florida's faculty and has been in charge of the university's financial affairs since 1987. STOCK MARKET

The stock market was a mixed bag of activity today, with the Dow Jones Industrial Average ending the day at 10,000.00, up 100.00 points from the previous day's close.

The market was characterized by a strong performance in the technology sector, with the Nasdaq Composite Index rising 150.00 points to 2,500.00.

Investors were also encouraged by the Federal Reserve's decision to keep interest rates steady, which helped to stabilize the bond market.

Overall, the market showed signs of recovery, with many analysts predicting a continued upward trend in the coming months.
